Foreign students cope with new environment

by Mary F. Scalls

Going away to school can be a difficult experience. One lives without the people and things that brought security, while coping with the new surroundings. Imagine, then, not only being thousands of miles away from home, but also having a new language to contend with. The foreign students at Avila are doing just that.

Last fall 50 foreign students, representing 27 countries, comprised 2.5% of the student enrollment, according to Carole Hamilton, director of counseling.

The 3 countries most represented on campus are Iran, Nigeria, and Venezuela.

One of the biggest problems foreign students have is difficulty with English, notably during exams. Although Avila insists that for-foreign students meet certain standards in their English proficiency, some still have problems. Ms. Hamilton said that because of all the translations the foreign students have to make (from English to native language, and back to English) it may take 3 times as long to complete an answer as an American would on a test.

Besides not being eligible for traditional financial aid sources like the Work-Study Program or the Missouri Grant and having to find a place to live during break periods, perhaps the biggest problem to conquer is one of loneliness. Because it is economically impossible to go back home, some students are in the United States for as long as 2 years until they can afford to go home again.

College skills workshop offered this summer

Students looking to refine their writing and study skills are being offered a Writing Lab/College Skills Workshop at Avila June 2 - July 29.

Sponsored by Avila's College Skills Centre, the eight-week workshop will provide sixteen hours of specialized instruction: eight in a college skills section on Mondays and eight in a writing lab on Thursdays. These sessions will be available in the afternoon or in the evening.

The Writing Lab is designed to meet the needs of students who would benefit from assistance and instruction intended to enhance their writing capabilities and from a review of the fundamental principles of composition and grammar — from paragraphs to research papers.

The workshop fee, which includes all course materials, is $7.50. Registration forms and additional information can be obtained by contacting Mary Steward at 942-8400, extension 266. Application deadline is May 1.

Commencement begins with barbeque picnic

by Denise Kaufman

Commencement weekend begins Friday night, May 7th with a barbeque picnic for the graduates and their families.

The Honors Convocation will be held on Saturday, May 8th at 10:30 a.m. in the Mabee Fieldhouse. Dean of Students L. F. Cupkie will preside. At this time the various departments will present outstanding achievement awards to students.

A graduate nurse pin ceremony will occur, as well as, the rewarding of the Medical Technology pins. To be announced at the convocation will be the recipient of the Avila Medal of Honor which will be presented by Sister Olive Louise Dallavis.

Those who attend will also find out who is to receive the Ariston Award.

Approximately 350 Avila students will obtain their degrees at the commencement exercise on May 8th at 6:00 p.m. in the Mabee Fieldhouse. The speaker for the evening will be Missouri Senator John Danforth.

Six students chosen as RA's

The Avila Housing Staff has announced its selections for six resident assistants in the coming 1982-83 school year.

The students selected are Sarah Doyle, Mary Beth Seiler, Carolyn Seiter, Kim Eritrio Vera Ludwig and Rob Brown. To qualify the six met a number of requirements in addition to the selection process.

Among the requirements

they met were at least one previous semester of residence hall living, a minimum class load of twelve hours, and a GPA of 2.5 or better.

The first step in the selection process was filling out an in-depth application. All applicants also were required to attend a candidates meeting where they met with the housing staff. They also had a private meeting with the current RA's.

Individually they were each interviewed three times, once by the current RA staff, once by the hall directors, and once by Housing Director Deb Lewis.

United States Senator John Danforth

U.S. Senator John Danforth to speak at commencement

by Denise Kaufman

Missouri Senator John Danforth will be the speaker at Avila's May 8th Commencement Exercise.

The senator, who in 1976 became the first Republican elected to the Senate in 30 years, is currently serving on the Senate Finance, Commerce, and Government Affairs Committees. In addition, he is chairman of the Subcommittee on International Trade, the Subcommittee on Surface Transportation, and the Subcommittee on Federal Spending Practices.

Danforth's roots go deep into the state as he is a fifth generation Missourian, born and raised in St. Louis where he received much of his secondary education. In 1958, he obtained a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Princeton University and 5 years later in 1963, he earned a Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Yale Divinity School and a Bachelor of Laws Degree from Yale Law School.

Quite remarkably, John Danforth is the only known individual to have received these two degrees from Yale University on the same date. Upon graduation, he went on to practice law with a successful firm stationed in New York. Danforth later established himself with a prominent group of lawyers in the St. Louis area.

In 1968 and again in 1972, the Senator was elected to the office of Attorney General for the state of Missouri. The following year he was appointed Chairman of the Missouri Law Enforcement Council.

The Senator has a strong religious background and has been ordained to the clergy of the Episcopal Church. Danforth has been awarded the Distinguished Service Award of the St. Louis Jaycees and was a 1968 recipient of the Missouri Jaycees Outstanding Young Man award, as well as obtaining numerous Honorary doctors and masters degrees from colleges and universities.

A time to behold

It was time to fill the senses. Americans recently witnessed and played a role in two events that were to give them a new breath of life. Millions watched as the space shuttle Columbia majestically rose skyward on a tail of fire. They were to watch launch replays to the theme, appropriately enough, from "Chariots of Fire." During the time in space the earthbound were treated to a different view of their planet and the worlds surrounding it. As things went well in space the earth decided to rebel. It first washed out the primary landing sight at Edwards Air Force Base in California and then unleashed its winds to delay the landing a day at White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico. Fittingly the landing site with its rugged terrain had once been used to practice lunar walks in the Apollo program. During this time an even more significant event occurred in Central America. The elections held in El Salvador were to remind Americans of just how fortunate they were to live in a democracy and the cost their ancestors had to pay. While Americans are taking elections more lightly by the year, the El Salvadoreans went to the polling places at the risk of losing their lives to vote on a government in which they had no assurances would represent them. Their actions served to remind American citizens that they lived in a participatory government and that was a right and responsibility, not a burden that could or should be ignored. It was a time of remembering our past and a time of looking into our future. It was a time that filled our senses.

Initial budgets recommended

Preliminary budgets for the 1982-83 school year have been sent to Dean of Students Lynn Cupkie for approval. His approval will be the final step in the budget for next year. On March 31st, the Student Fee Board met with a representative from each organization which is sponsored by the student activity fee. The board then had a chance to ask questions concerning where the money was going, what cuts could be made, and student participation. Following the Fee Board's initial recommendations, each organization had the opportunity to appeal their allocation. The following figures are the budgets from this year and the budget that each organization requested. The SAFB Recommendation numbers were the budgets that were sent to the Dean.

Danforth comments on aid cuts

Press Release

A second round of reductions in student financial assistance proposed by the Administration should not be approved by Congress, according to U.S. Senator Jack Danforth (R-MO). "The proposed reductions are not acceptable because they threaten to bargain away the economic future," Danforth said. "We cannot afford any but the best-educated and best-trained new generation of Americans to grapple with the challenges of the 21st century. Nor can we trifle with basic access to higher education in a world geared increasingly to specialized and technical knowledge." Danforth said budget authority for major student assistance programs would be reduced by one-third under the proposals, from $6.4 billion to $4.3 billion. Danforth said the proposed

40% reduction in Pell grants is unacceptable. The needs-based program, he said, already channels 75% of its resources to students from families with adjusted gross incomes of $15,000 annually or less. In Missouri, the American Association of State Colleges and Universities estimates, the changes would reduce the number of Pell grant recipients from 58,000 to 35,000. The Guaranteed Student Loan program, he noted, was revised in 1981 to include a means test and a loan origination fee. He said a major reduction proposed this year, the elimination of graduate and professional students, is unacceptable. First, Danforth said, the suggested alternative to GSLs would require payments within 60 days on 14% interest, making the alternative of little use to students who are able to work only during summers. Second, he said, the alternative program is not yet operational in Missouri and a number of other states. "The first goal of economic policy must be to narrow upcoming budget deficits," Danforth said. "Progress toward lower deficits must come, I believe, with balanced scrutiny of all areas of federal spending and with some adjustments in federal revenues. In the case of student financial assistance, reductions were made in 1981 to put limited resources where they are most needed — with students least able to finance their educations — and as part of a difficult and necessary effort to get control of the increase in federal spending. The new proposals do not measure up as part of a balanced economic policy."

Play Review

Butterflies flies again tonight

by Mark Johnson

The final performances of Leonard Gershe's comedy, Butterflies Are Free, take place tonight and tomorrow night on the Goppert Theatre stage at 8:00 p.m. On opening night the cast took the audience through a wide range of emotions, moving them more as the play developed. Butterflies revolves around a young man's efforts to declare his independence in spite of his blindness and his mother. The role of Don Baker is played by Christopher Maddy. Maddy played his role well, capturing Baker's courage, sense of humor and insecurity. He captured the audience as well. Darian Smith in the role of the flighty actress Jill Tanner developed the character as the play went along. In the opening scenes she seemed tentative and couldn't find the flightiness her character required. Teresa Fischer did a strong job as Baker's mother, seeking to sever his independence.

In the process she gains new insights into herself and into her son. Rassol Alanjaraghi did well in his brief appearance as the casting director Ralph Austin. At times the play lacked the necessary contrast between certain characters. Overall, these times were few and far between. For those who have not seen Butterflies Are Free before, it is an evening well spent in watching America in a growing stage.

Broadway comes to Goppert

by Denise Kaufman

Here's your chance to experience a little taste of Broadway without even going to the big apple. Avila College's Performing Arts Department proudly presents May 1st "... From Lincoln Center to Broadway", a music-dance extravaganza.

Phil Fiorini and Anna Pi-leggi combine talents as they team up for a duet in a balcony scene from West Side Story. Laura Magruder's rendition of West Side Story's "Habanera" should not be missed. Nancy Nail will perform the ever popular "Honey Bun" from South Pacific. Those who attend will once again have the opportunity to hear Karen Greene as she sings Gianni Schicchi's "O mio babbino caro". Jim Wright will also be on hand to display his dancing in the number "Joanna" from Sweeney Todd. Additional performers include David Jones, Rob Brown, Brent Ewert, Oscar Long, Kelly Marzett, and Jeff Porter. This musical spectacle was formulated under the direction of Richard Pond for dance, Daniel Larson for song, and Sister de LaSalle McKeon for music. This May 1st production will begin promptly at 8:00 p.m. in the Goppert Theatre. All Avila students are eligible to receive a complimentary ticket for this performance. General admission ticket prices are $2.00.

President's Scholarship Club celebrates 10th anniversary

by Nancy Burnor

The President's Scholarship Club, which sponsors one of Avila's most prestigious scholarships, is currently celebrating its 10th anniversary.

The club was founded by Ed Thornhill and Ron Bennett in honor of Sister Olive Louise in 1972. Of the 120 charter members, only three of those original have dropped leaving a record number of active paying honorees.

Each member pays dues of $50 each year. With the more than 820 members, the club has about $40,000 to award or savings where the accumulated interest is awarded.

This program recognizes superior academic achievement by both high school and community college students.

Preference is given to students who rank in the upper 15% of their high school class, have a minimum 3.0 G.P.A. on a 4.0 scale, and have minimum scores equal to the current mean on ACT or SAT. Community college transfers must be admitted to Avila, have completed 30 credit hours from an accredited community college, and have a minimum 3.0 G.P.A.

The scholarship award may be from $750 to full tuition for freshman students or $375 to half tuition for transfer students. The scholarship is automatically renewed if the student maintains 12 credit hours per semester, a 3.25 G.P.A., has no F's, and attends Avila on a continuous basis.

College joins "Health Fair '82" "Making Wellness Fun" day May 1st

by Kelley McQuillan

Kansas City has joined in the national health craze with "Health Fair '82". The Fair will run from April 26 through May 2. It will be sponsored by Red Cross, Chevron, Channel 9, and Prudential Life.

Avila will be one of the twenty-six locations cited to operate screening tests for potential diseases. Tests will check eye sight, cardiovascular rate, blood pressure, breast tissue, and other bodily functions and areas.

The college will partake in the week by offering a one day event on May 1 entitled "Making Wellness Fun". This program will be set up differently than the concurrent

Kansas City programs, as it will focus on healthy lifestyles and good habits. The four areas that need the most attention are stress, nutrition, exercise and safety. These areas will be covered by a variety of programs planned by various academic departments and concerned Kansas Citians.

Providing that the weather is good, nutrition booths will be set up in the quad for people to browse around. Free food samples and special recipes will be handed out in conjunction with pamphlets stressing low-salt, sugar, and cholesterol diets. Videotapes will also be shown on the Kansas City restaurrants that serve these special diets.

The Kansas City Comets are coming to speak on injury prevention before exercising. An obstacle course will be set up to put the new learned skills into action as well as test the cardiovascular system. Aerobic and Jazzercise representatives will be available also to explain the necessity for cardiovascular awareness.

"Making Wellness Fun" should prove to be informative and worthwhile. There is no cost and all adults 18 and older are invited. All Avila students, faculty and staff are invited.

Pac-Man fever strikes

by Mary F. Scalis

There is a disease sweeping Avila's campus. Slowly and surely it is making its way into the wallets of the unsuspecting. It even has two victims, Buckner and Garcia, to sing its praises. It could only be one thing: PAC-MAN FEVER.

Avila's bout with this affliction started a few months ago when the game crept into Marian Centre lounge.

The object of the game is fairly easy to understand. Pac-Man (controlled by the player) is to avoid being eaten by the monsters that are after him by running away from them or by eating a big white dot, called the flashing energizer. After Pac-Man has been energized, it can then eat the monsters.

With the thrill of victory comes the agony of defeat. As beginners know, there is nothing to compare with being eaten by a monster after only 30 seconds of play.

What's the attraction? There's more to this game than monsters and catchy sound effects. The key is relaxation. Clarence Robinson sums it up, "You concentrate on what you're doing, so you forget about everything else."

The epidemic is spreading fast, far, and furious — will you be the next to fall prey to the Fever?

With the federal financial aid budget for 1983 under scrutiny in Congress, and with President Reagan proposing sizable cuts in federal aid to education, Avila College, like many other colleges and universities across the country, could feel the blow of these budget cuts if they are approved.

Input from a Congressional representative's constituents, in the form of a letter to the representative, can be very influential in molding the final form the federal aid budget can take.

For those Avila students concerned with the budget's proposed cutbacks in aid to education, here are a few tips on the most effective way to express an opinion to a congressman.

The first step, of course, is to address your letter to the right person. See the list of representatives at the end of this article.

Be sure to clearly identify the issue you are writing about; refer to it by the bill number or some popular title, such as "cutbacks in aid to education."

When giving your opinion on the proposed legislation, be concise and brief.

The time and effort taken to write a personal letter expressing your own thoughts briefly and clearly will carry much weight in influencing the attitude, and eventually the voting, of your congressman.

The plains of Kansas yield forth another distance runner

by Mark Johnson

Through the years the fertile plains of western Kansas have yielded many a long distance runner from their roads of peaceful solitude.

One of these, Ramona Gatschet has run a course that has led her to Avila from Hays, Kansas. She will be running in the Avon 10,000 meter race this Sunday. In last year's race she finished second in her age division with a time of 46:27.

She runs for a number of reasons. Among them are enjoyment, conditioning, a time to be alone, and a way to relieve tension. While she is running she lets her mind wander as long as her feet continue in the right direction.

Her days of serious com-

Ramona Gatschet

petition ended when she graduated from St. Thomas Moore Prep Major in Hays. During her senior year she was ranked in the top ten in the state. She started running in the 6th grade partly because many of her friends were and running is a major sport in western Kansas.

Besides running she enjoys ice skating and intramural basketball. She was the captain of the Intramurals championship women's team this year.

Injuries common to many runners have not passed her by. She has had a stress fracture, inflammations, and periostitis, which is an inflammation of the outer layer covering the shin bones.

The sophomore nursing major will continue to run in the future, she says, for the fun of it. Once she graduates she isn't sure what direction she will head in, although it may be north. Wherever it is, she is likely to find a road of peaceful solitude.

From the Bench

Just who's in second now?

by Mark Johnson

If nice guys are the ones who finish last and champions are the ones who finish first, just who are the ones in second?

For years they have had to wear the tag of runner-ups. It is something akin to talking your sister to the prom.

When one finishes in last place there is a bookful of cliches and more to console them with. Some of the more popular include "you can only go up," or "things couldn't get any worse," "just wait until next year," and "we just need one more player to turn this franchise around."

Champions, well champions need no cliches although there are nearly as many for them as there are for losers.

The poor guy in second place just can't win though. People have no sympathy for him because he set no new records for losing streaks. In spite of this he is labeled a loser because he didn't win the championship. Never mind the fact that he finished better than everyone but one. It just doesn't seem to pay.

There have been many famous or infamous second place finishers in sports history. Until this year when his team won the NCAA Basketball Championship there were doubts as to how good a coach Dean Smith was.

Arthur Ashe was never considered a legitimate champion until he upset Jimmy Connors at Wimbledon. Never mind the fact he had beaten all the rest.

The Philadelphia 76'ers have become the perennial runner-ups in NBA Championship games. Yet in the past five years they have compiled a better record than any other team.

So the morale is, "If your going to lose, do it in grand fashion and if your going to win, do likewise." Otherwise it just doesn't seem to pay.

Doug Deuel's team last left standing in softball tourney

by Kelley McQuillan

It may not have been the O.K. Corral or High Noon with Gary Cooper, but when the dust had settled and the smoke had cleared, Doug Deuel's team was the only one left standing, for they had outgunned all the rest.

Deuel's team outscored the opposition 31-0 in the four games, never allowing a runner past second base. In the championship, they shut out Rob Estell's team 5-0. This was the second time that they had met Estell's team as they had shut them out in the third round. The champions reached the third round by defeating Ken Bromier's team and Mark Johnson's team.

Estell's team reached the championship game by defeating Jane Lenzini's team and Dave Wissman's twice. The second game against Wissman was an extra inning after that ended when team captain, Estell, smashed a line drive down third base line to score Tom Zehner with the winning run. Final score was 2-1.

Nancy Kopp had a hot streak recently when she served 19 of 20 first serves in.

Avila net set fares well at tournament

The Lady Avalanche will try to net a victory this afternoon against Park on Avila's home courts. The match begins at 2:00 p.m.

It will be the tennis team's second to last match this season. Their final match Tuesday will come against the Griffons from Missouri Western.

Missouri Western proved to be a favorable setting for Avila players in a recent tournament. Picking up wins in singles were Kathy Curtin, Chris Ojile, and Sue Comford.

Curtin won a match against a Graceland player 6-4, 7-5, Ojile defeated a Baker player 7-6, 6-2, and a player from Graceland 7-5, 6-3. In the consolation final she lost 1-6, 1-6; Comford following the tradition for that day also beat a player from Graceland 6-4, 7-6.

Ojile and Curtin teamed in doubles against Benedictine and lost 3-6, 0-6. Their second loss came against Northwest Missouri State. Shelley Willems teamed with Nancy Kopp and lost a three set match to Baker 3-6, 6-2, and 3-6. In the consolation bracket they lost 5-7, 2-6 to Missouri Western.

The highlight of the day for Avila was the doubles play of Beth Cini and Sue Comford. After losing their opening round match they defeated Graceland 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. The duo advanced with a victory over a Baker team 4-6, 6-2, 6-0. In the consolation final they split the first two sets against Southwest Baptist 4-6, 7-5. In a tiebreaker they lost the match.

Wissman's team had victories over Tim William's, Donnelly's and Johnson's teams. In the third round of the loser's bracket, Wissman's team jumped out to an early 6 to 1 lead against Johnson's team. They hung on to wind up with a 6 to 4 win. In the games against Donnelly and Johnson, team captain Wissman, did his Reggie Jackson impression by hitting three home runs (one to each field), a triple, and a double.

Avid spectators huddled on the hillside due to chilling winds. They focused in on first base where they saw numerous somersaults, dives and collisions.

After the championship game, Doug Deuel's team members: Michele Thro, Sue Naert, Theresa Crimi, Kathy Hale, Ron VanFleet, Gary Forney, Ralph Burton, Carter Beck and Doug Deuel were awarded with Intramural T-shirts.

The softball tournament finished out the Intramural schedule for this spring semester. Programs are being evaluated and plans are being discussed for next fall's Intramural Program.

Road Rally Results

The following are the winners of the 1982 Intramural Road Rally.

The overall champions were Trish Sprague and Ann Bomar. There was a tie between Trish Sprague and Ann Bomar's car and Pam McDonald and Carla Gollsbys' car in the category of completing the course in the best time.

Trish Sprague and Ann Bomar also were the winners in the mileage category.

Teresa Fischer and Bernadette Rodemann were the winners in the questions category, answering the most questions correctly.
